LAUGHTER IS GOOD FOR THE BOTTOM-LINE

There's something funny about serious business!

- Connecting more memorably with your clients
- Increasing creativity and fresh views on problem-solving
- Maintaining high levels of health and balance

Learn how to use laughter to strengthen the relationship between you and your clients and separate yourself from your competition.

Use the power of humor and laughter to widen the creative perspective and improve problem-solving abilities. Jeffrey's easy-to-use improv techniques will make this a memorable and useful event.

When your attendees ask: What are the wiifm's? (What's in it for me?) You already know that it's never what you make, it's what you keep, and laughter will help you keep more health and balance in your life.
